ECHOES FROM THE EDITORS

HELP WANTED

Wanted: 500 students to order 9 more issues of the Siren.

How about it?

Can we have 500 students reading their own copies of the Siren every issue.

The Staff have that ambitious school spirit, and are prepared to offer you the best in jokes, articles, society and sport.

Only the support of the school can enable us to print the Siren that you want to read.

Besides the staff named below, we have a number of unofficial reporters, so watch out, your best friend may be a reporter.

We also want contributions of stories, jokes, poems and cartoons. Hand them in to any of the staff.

Bernard Holt R.22 - Bus. Man.
George Shafer R.6 - Editor.
Lillian Henderson R.25 -

Girls Sports.

Aileen Aylsworth R.17 -
Marguerite Carscallen R.16 -
Society.

Leonard Glover R.22 - Humor.
Charlie Green R.15 - Art,
Cartoons.

Ray Connet R.18 - Poetry.
Iris Redford R.9 - Grade X
Reporter.

Letters to the Editor commenting on this issue will be appreciated. Give them to any of the Siren staff. Thanks!

THE STUDENTS' COUNCIL

Say kids, the way the Students Council Movement went over was great. The school spirit a reality instead of a haunting ghost, crowds at the rugby game cheering wildly, great interest in school clubs, that's what the Students' Council has to promote. Let's all get behind and push, push to the top! Then to make Crescent Heights stay there. We can do it! Let's go!

The Rugby games start this week. This is the first opportunity for students to show the real Crescent Heights spirit to other schools. Get down there and cheer for all your worth!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Boy's Athletic are holding a Lecture next Monday Night, Oct. 9. Official announcement will be made later!

The following meetings will be held this week and next!

Basketball - Wednesday noon 12.25
Thursday 4.

Rugby Game - Thursday 4 at Stadium

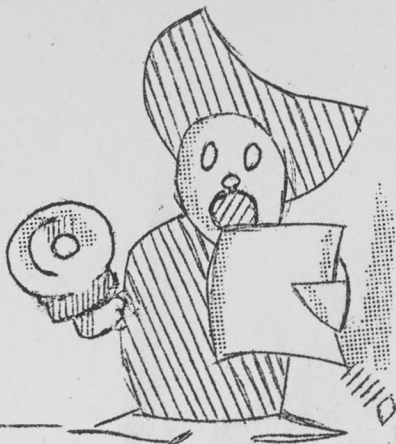

Boy's Hi-Y - Friday noon.

Girl's Hi-Y - Next Monday noon.

BASKETBALL

Mr. Watts would like to see some husky six-footers at the basketball practices Wednesday noon and Thursday night. How about it you six-footers?

BE THERE

The Siren Screams

" LAUGH WITH EVERYONE BUT NOT AT ANYONE "

A fiery old colonel was playing golf and making a lot of mistakes. Ray Connett kept following him around the course. At last the colonel blew up.

"Why in the blazes are you looking at me?"

"I'm not looking," said Ray,

"I'm listening!"

A famous motor car man advertised that he had put a car together in seven minutes. One night he received a phone call asking him if this was so.

"Yes" he said, "Why?"

"Well," said the voice, "I'm afraid I've got the car".

Little Man - Excuse me sir, I can't see the-stage.

Big Man - Oh, just laugh when I laugh and you'll be alright.

Fussy old lady - I could not eat a rabbit that had been shot or trapped.

S. Aitken - (Fed up) Here lady take this one. It's been frightened to death.

Mr. Leisemer - That's a nasty cut you've got on your head.

Gordon Inglis - Oh - that's all right. It's next to nothing.

Cecil Rayburn had just come home the mines in the west.

"Cecil", said his mother, you've hardly changed a bit.

"I know", said Cecil, "but there ain't no laundries out there!"

R, Wright's version - Better to have loved and lost - much better.

"That's Miss Snoot, I hear she's had her face lifted.

"Well, the lift must have been out of order.

Grandpa - Do you want to go on the merry-go-round?

Modern Child - Oh, I don't mind if it will please you.

Mr. Laurie (in England) I am told this house goes back to the Stuarts.

Salesman - Don't believe it. If you buy it it's yours for life.

Child - What makes the tower of Pisa lean, auntie?

Stout Aunt - I wish to heavens I knew.

Cohen - Congratulate me, my son is going to be married.

Friend - Is he?

Cohen - No, Abe.

Bill Dunn - Would your father mind if I stayed a little longer?

Jean Brown - Why should he? He hasn't got to entertain you.

Merle Robinson - He said he'd love me for ever and ever.

Lillian Henderson - Ah-men.

Dumb - My fiancée spends a fortune on her dresses. What should I do?

Smart - That's easy - Marry her dressmaker.

Mother (to son) Now don't forget Tommy, if anyone asks you where your father is, say he's gone away for a fortnight - not fourteen days.

EXHIBITION GAME BENEFITS NEEDY STUDENTS

Crescents lose 8 - 0

In an exhibition rugby game Friday night, Crescents bowed to a much heavier Central team to the tune of 8 - 0.

This game was to provide funds for students who need books. A good crowd watched the game. Richard Morton kept the crowd in good humor by acting as cheer leader.

Play in the first half was close but in the second half Central used their weight to advantage.

The Crescents, with a little more experience, should reverse the score.

The team - D. Woodrow, S. Dodds, J. Gordon, J. Stevenson, M. Belkin, J. Reynolds, L. Peterson, R. Gilman, J. Turner, L. Dobson, P. Large, C. Rabkin, W. Bennett, B. Jeffery, F. Dawson, S. Kendrick, F. Peacock, S. Nazar, A. Donaldson, J. Campbell, G. Hooper, W. McCush.

Crescents first League is on Thursday, most likely against Western Canada. Let's have a real cheering crowd down there.

We regret that we are unable to publish the rugby schedule as it was not ready at the time of going to press. Watch for it in the daily papers.

GIRLS SPORTS

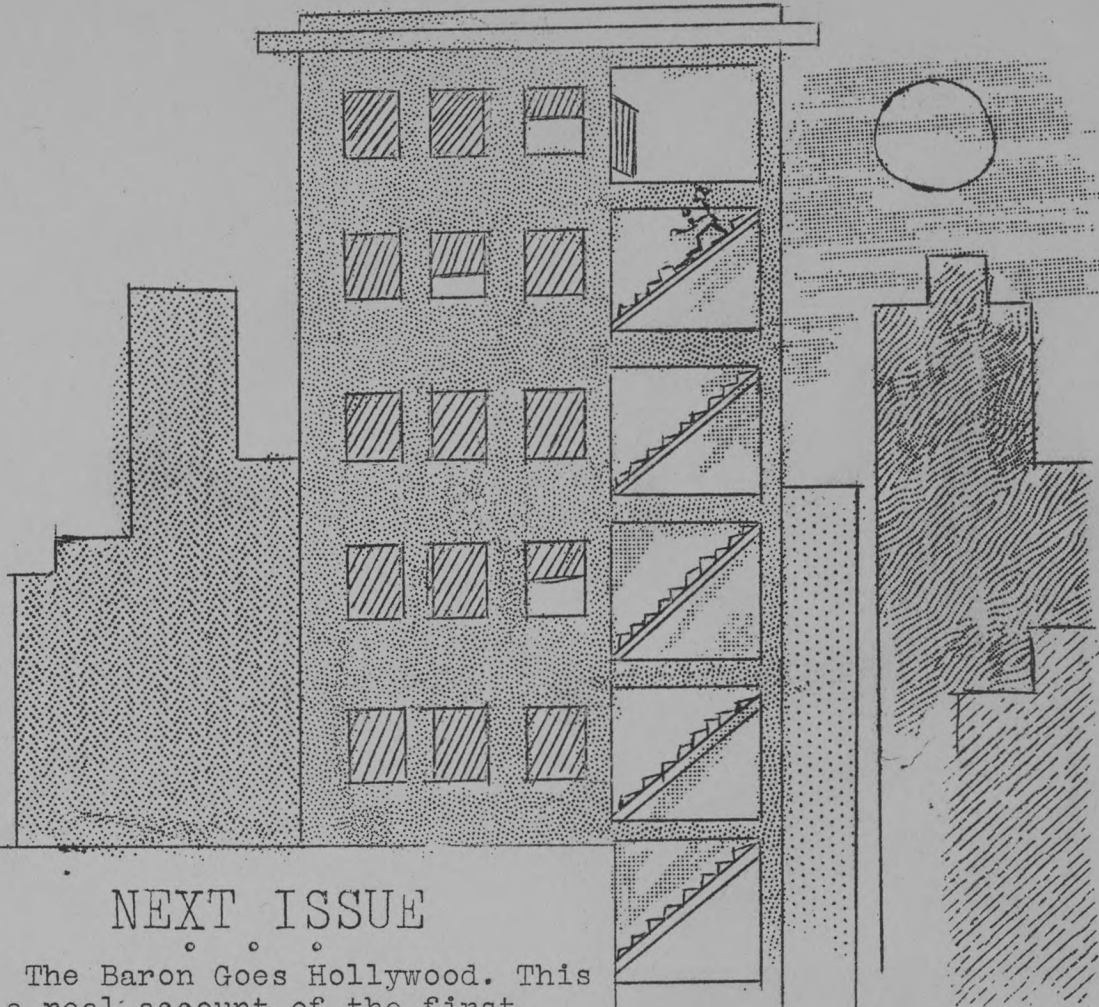

Last year was one of many successful years in Girls Sports at Crescent Heights High School. There were many outstanding athletes in the rank and file of the girls and they, with their loyalty to C.H.C.I. and dominant fighting spirit were responsible for many triumphs. Crescent Heights High School girls again showed their mettle at the Girls Sports in May when they literally "walked off" with victories in all events.

Not only in interscholastic sports did the girls show their interest in athletics but the inter-room competitions in both basketball and soft-ball were met with enthusiasm.

Many of last year's outstanding athletes have left Crescent heights. However, it is only necessary to glance around the halls in order to see that many excellent athletes have returned. These girls, together with the "freshies" and "sophomores" who will undoubtedly make names for themselves in sport, will uphold the high school as far as girl athletes are concerned. They won't permit Crescent Heights High School to "rest on its laurels" of last year but will achieve new honors and win new victories which will be recorded in the annals of the high school.

The Baron Goes Hollywood. This is a real account of the first interview with the Baron. (It takes up too much room to write the word Munchausen so that's why we're leaving it out.)

Also the first of a series of biographies about your teachers. With jokes and everything, what more could you want for a nickel ?

PUTTING THE CAT OUT IN NEW YORK!

THE WASTEBASKET

By Ray Connett.

Ed. Note: On such short notice we found it difficult to get material enough for our first number. However we suddenly recalled that institution which was put to such good use last year -- the waste basket. Browsing through its contents we found enough words to fill this space. We hope our readers will understand that this is not intended for consumption but merely, as we said before, to fill space.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, and again thank you; and in the words of that inimitable Baron of the Air, "Here we go again!" It was with no little shock to the intellect of your old friend that last Mon-dawning brought the full realization of new worlds to conquer in the form of nightmares, or what-have-you? mildly nicknamed "courses of study". Alas and alack! as Shakespeare said, or was it Browning? "each new day bringeth forth new tasks!" But let's forget the labour side of school and think of play--which brings me to clubs (societies to you) and the eternal question of "Which to go in for?" Well, dear(?) readers, you who are shivering with excitement over in the far corner, it matters naught to me which you expose ^{your} self to. BUT, for the sake of dear old C.H.C.I. (ah! dear old CHCI) don't neglect that one and only of organizations, the students council. As a stooge you'll come to feel proud of the seemingly small part you play in its great mass, but play that part to the utmost of your ability. And while thinking thus seriously, perhaps you recognize these familiar lines by Longfellow (maybe it is a bit stretched.)

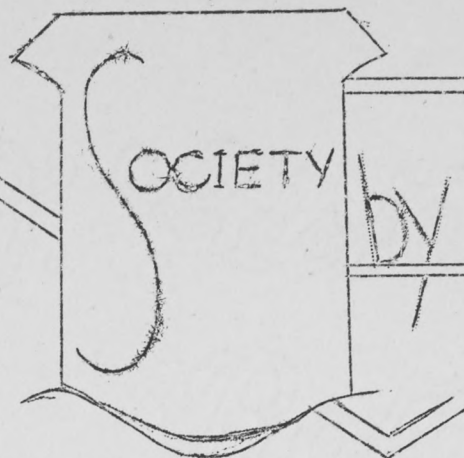

Hi, Freshie, where d'ya think you are? Those stairs won't take you very far, And if you would avoid a frown Keep to the north when going down. Ha, ha, you'll prob'ly learn some day. Meanwhile, I've only this to say, If you work hard--some day you'll be A swell-head senior just like me.

A sophomore! Your second year! Yes, I remember, never fear, You used to be in nine last term, I'll bet the memory makes you burn. But now you hold your head up high And scoff at freshies passing by But you still have two years to go 'Ere you can truly say "I know".

Well, Junior, you're a long way up, You've nearly drained the brimming cup. You've learned a lot, and still, you know

There's more to learn where e'er you go. Now this year you will come to feel Beginnings made in school are real And if you follow them with care They'll yield to you a knowledge rare.

Well, brother senior, how are you? You passed in June? How did you do? You averaged eighty! Not so bad! You always said what brains you had. Well, you and I are big shots now, To our vast knowledge freshies bow; But that's not all, we two must be As shining lights which others see And by our light they follow on To reach great heights ere life is gone So we must tread our path with care And mark each difficulty there That those behind may walk secure And never pause at Leisure's lure.

"ALLAN-BANE"

Kay Green must think Ray Gilman needs rubbing out, for she has taken to throwing erasers at him.

Nelson Gahn must be going through the first stages of puppy love for we saw him giving flowers to Mary Ferguson.

What's this? What's this?
Charlie Millar was seen talking to a dark haired damsel.
Tch! Tch! Charlie.
What will Edna say?

Oh yes, Miss Sylvia Gully, we saw you talking to Vic. Starting early aren't you? Let's hope that LLOYD doesn't hear about this.

Howard McKim has lost his tie pin. Would it do any good to page Shirley Mitchell?

Miss Emily Wilson while visiting in Wetaskiwin, had all the boys standing on their heads. By the way, what happened to that Wilson - Gordon affair?

Miss Fanny Collins was doing the same thing in town. She was caught red-handed one Saturday night. And was her face red!!

We understand that Laura Willett has made an enemy of Wesley Hewitt for life.

Has Dorothy Scott found out yet who the boy is that she mistook for George Hooper?

Why did Ev. Allan turn Fred Costins invitation for Sat. night down? Could it be because Ab Riley was there?

We are glad to see that Art Cooper and Aileen Foster are renewing their -ah- acquaintance (?)

Who is the charming girl that Gordon Clark likes to sit across from and talk to in R. 9?

We have noticed that a little girl in R. 11 has thoughts only for Sid. Kendrick. (Can she be Marjorie Dorward).

And did anyone ever tell you that John Carson was a direct descendant of Tarzan?

NEW PYRAMID TO BE BUILT

The students who take history in Room 3 in the third period have decided to build a pyramid. The old school will be removed and all students begin in the near future. The pyramid will be built of only the best of success, and for the outward polish will have all the scholarships there are for Calgary, and the highest of praise. May the work on the pyramid begin soon. Mr. Aberhart and teachers to supervise the building.

Student of Room 3.

B. Holt - All work and no play makes Jack and lots of it.
